

SPATIAL INTERACTIONS BETWEEN RICE PRODUCTION AREAS
AND RICE MILLS USING NETWORK ANALYSIS

TANONGKIETE AUPONNO

A THESIS SUBMITTED TO THE GRADUATE SCHOOL IN PARTIAL FULFILLMENT OF THE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEGREE OF
MASTER OF SCIENCE
(AGRICULTURE)
IN AGRICULTURAL SYSTEMS

GRADUATE SCHOOL
CHIANG MAI UNIVERSITY
MAY 2001

SPATIAL INTERACTIONS BETWEEN RICE PRODUCTION AREAS
AND RICE MILLS USING NETWORK ANALYSIS

TANONGKIETE AUPONNO

THIS THESIS HAS BEEN APPROVED
TO BE A PARTIAL FULFILLMENT OF THE REQUIREMENTS
FOR THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF SCIENCE (AGRICULTURE)
IN AGRICULTURAL SYSTEMS

EXAMINING COMMITTEE

Lecturer Dr. Methi Ekasingh

CHAIRMAN

Associate Professor Dr. Aree Wiboonpongse

MEMBER

Associate Professor Dr. Benchaphun Ekasingh

MEMBER

Mr. Panomsak Promburom

MEMBER

11 MAY 2001

Copyright by the Graduate School, Chiang Mai University

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Methi Ekasingh, my advisor and chairman of the committee, for his kind assistance and encouragement throughout my study. Gratitude is also expressed to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Aree Wiboonpongse, for her guidance and valuable advice which is very useful for my problem solving process. I would like to thank Assoc. Prof. Benchapun Ekasingh, and Mr. Panomsak Promburom for their valuable comments and suggestion as members of the committee.

I also would like to express my appreciation to all GIS staff and students at the Agricultural Systems Program, Multiple Cropping Center who not only offered their professional assistance, but also their highly valued friendship. Special thank goes to Decision Support System Laboratory, Multiple Cropping Center for providing resources and equipment for me on the final result computational process, particular Mr. Panomsak Promboorum who gave me the notable advice and help, he spent long hours during which he should be staying with his family. Thank to Ms. Pinpetch Sakulsongbunsiri who assisted me during this paper preparation. Thank, also to my friends and colleagues at the Computer Service Center especially Ms. Sumalee Wongchai and Ms. Saowanee Kalaboon for their supports. And I also thank to Dr. Krisorn Jittratorntrum my ex-director who kindly gave me a chance of taking a higher education.

Special thanks to Ford Foundation and The Thailand Research Fund for awarding me the scholarship and research fund throughout the study period and research. I also would like express thanks to Ms. Pimolpan Chattrawilawan, the government officer, at Office of Chiang Mai Provincial Industry, who gave me valuable information on rice mill industry in Chiang Mai province. Thank to all mill's owner and farmers, in the study sites in providing the valuable information for this study.

Thanks to Ms. Pornwilai Saipothong, and many friendly people at ICRAF, for their encouragement and friendship.

Finally, I would like to thank my dearest mother. I am grateful to her patience and supports. She is my role model, not only as a mother, but also as the first teacher in my life.

Tanongkiete Auponno