I am very grateful to a number of persons and organizations for their cooperation coordination, inspiration and support to complete my graduation with this valuable document in Chiang Mai University. My sincere thanks are to all academic and administrative staffs of Multiple Cropping Center (MCC), who have provided me a homely and friendly environment during my study period in Chiang Mai University.

In particular, I am very grateful and indebted to my thesis advisor Dr. Kamol Ngamsomsuke for his continuous encouragement, support and guidance from initial conceptualization of proposal to finalization of thesis in this form. Similarly, I am also grateful to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Benchaphun Ekasingh for her invaluable guidance from start to end to complete this study. Further, I would like to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Methi Ekasingh, Ajarn Phrek Gypmantasiri, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Aree Wiboonpongse, and Assoc. Prof. Dr. Attachai Jintrawet for their constructive comments and suggestions to complete this study and bring the document in this form. Additionally, I would like to express my appreciation to the external examiner Ajarn Phrek Gypmantasiri for his valuable remarks during my thesis defense.

I am thankful to senior friends Bhawani, Kailash, Bhim, Dophu, Hasta, Ha, Duc, Wattana and Rasmey, my classmates Poch, Yadu, Sieng, Khaing, Thanid and junior friends Duc, Manjula, Han, Long, Soe ma and Wielawan for their cooperation and immense help during my study period.

In Nepal I am thankful to number of persons and authorities in Department of Agriculture, Mr. K.C. Sharma, Mr. Dhungana and others who helped and inspired me to pursue this study. Particularly I am thankful to Surya Paudel, Sager Dhakal, Lal Kumar Shrestha, Dol Krishna Subedi, Tika Ram Thapa, Khagendra Sharma and Dipendra Joshi for their help to carryout my field study.

My sincere thanks to all the enumerators in six districts who helped me to carryout the field survey during difficult situation of political conflict, here I am unable to list all their names. I am greatly indebted to the key informants, focus group participants, and farmers in the study areas for their selfless cooperation for providing me with insightful responses for this work.

With importance I would like to extend my sincere thanks and gratitude to the Thailand International Development Cooperation Agency (TICA) of the Thai government for providing me with prestigious scholarship for my study without which the pursuit of my degree would have been difficult. Moreover, I extend my gratitude Ms. Woraluck Suteerawantana (Khun Om), for her superb arrangement of administrative works for study and for eagerness to help even in her difficult time.

In my family and relatives, brother Mohan, Prakash, nephews Ghanshyam, Gunraj, and Ghyan are thankful for their support during my study. My wife janaki deserve my deepest appreciation for her constant support, moral encouragement and looking after my whole family in my absence. Finally, I would like to dedicate this thesis to my late parents Mr. Tula Datta Mishra and Mrs. Kamala Mishra who inspired me to be academic personality and now blessing and inspiring me from the immaterial world to work hard and stand firmly in moral ground even in the difficult time of life. Further this thesis is dedicated to my elder mother Mrs. Puni Mishra who nurtured and inspired me in everyday life since my childhood. Last but not least I would like to thank to all those who helped me to prepare this thesis, one or another way.
