ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I sincerely express my profound gratitude and respect to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Tavatchai Radanachaless, my thesis advisor, and Dr. Nantarat Supakamnerd for their intellectual supervision, invaluable guidance and comments to the successful completion of my thesis.

I am deeply grateful to members of the thesis committee, Lect. Dr. Tanachai Pankasemsuk, Dr. Choochad Santasup, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Soraya Ruamrungsri and Assoc. Prof. Kesinee Ramingwong, who have provided me with valuable comments and suggestions on the research contents. This study would not have completed without their support.

My hearth thanks and appreciations go to Assist. Prof. Dr. Ampan Bhromsiri, Ms. Piyanot yoipet, Ms. Nitaya Sombun, the Horticulture laboratory officers, Ms. Rungthip Utumpan, the Multiple Cropping Center, Chiang Mai University. The post-graduate and undergraduate students of Horticulture department from years of 2003 – 2006, who are not mentioned for providing me with assistance to complete my study.

I would like to thank the Postgraduate Scholarship of Graduate School, Chiang Mai University for providing me with partial funding. Additional financial support was granted from the Naresuan University, Phayao Campus. I thank them both for their encouragement and support throughout the study period.

My sincere appreciation is extended to all tangerine farmers in Fang district, Chiang Mai province for their cooperation with the survey questionnaires and their permission to conduct the experiments in their fields.

Sincere thanks to Mr. Val Mansfield, Ms. Poolsuk Mansfield and Ajarn Boy, who worked hard to improve my English

I am grateful to my father, mother, brother, and sister for inspiration, encouragement and helpfulness during many years of this Ph.D. research.
