I would like to express my sincere gratitude and deep appreciation to Asst.Prof.Dr. Surapol Natakankitkul, my advisor, for his guidance, valuable advice, comments, encouragement and refinement of my work.

My sincere thanks are due to my co-advisor, Prof.Dr. Maitree Suttajit, Asst.Prof. Dr. Yingyong Taopraert and Assoc.Prof. Dr. Preecha Upayokin for their valuable advice, and comments my work.

I am also thankful to Dr. Frank Kelly, Asst.Prof. Somporn Varnado for giving me helpful suggestions for correcting my manuscript.

My sincere thanks are also expressed to all staff of the Phaya Mengrai Hospital, the Phaya Mengrai Raw Herbal Materials Development Center, people in Phaya Mengrai district and "Lanna" healers in Chiang Rai Province, for helping me during surveys of the data, development and experiment concerning the appropriate dosage form of herbal medicine.

Also I would like to thank the Thailand Research Fund for allowing me to put some results from my research project " Development of Herbal Medicine For Community Economy at Phaya Mengrai District, Chiang Rai Province " which was supported by The Thailand Research Fund in this thesis.

In special appreciation, I would like to remember Dr. Thara Onchomchant , my husband who has passed away; He was the former Director of the Phaya Mengrai Hospital who originated the policy to develop herbal and traditional medicine in the holistic health care concepts in Chiang Rai province. That was the important cause to encourage me to study and continue his ideas and his work.

Finally, sincere thanks are also expressed to my parents, and my lovely daughter for their love, support and understanding. This thesis would not have been successful without them.
