ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Firstly and foremost, the author would like to express her profound gratitude and respect to her academic advisor, Associate Professor Dr. Benchaphun Ekasingh, Department of Agricultural Economics and Agricultural Extension, Faculty of Agriculture, Chiang Mai University, Thailand for her scientific guidance, close supervision, invaluable and constructive advice throughout the period of study at Chiang Mai University. The author also goes her deep gratitude to co-advisor Associate Professor Dr. Sakda Jongkaewwattana for his peer review, priceless comments, suggestions and encouragement. The author is also equally grateful to the external examiner Ajarn Phrek Gypmantasiri for his valuable remarks during the thesis defense and memorable lectures about sustainable agriculture and also case study.

Special thanks are also extended to Ministry of Agriculture and Irrigation, Union of Myanmar for providing her the opportunity to pursue this master degree.

The author greatly acknowledges to the Thai government through the Thailand International Development Cooperation Agency (TICA) for the financial support.

Moreover, the author thanks to all academic and administrative staff of Multiple Cropping Center (MCC) who have provided her a homely and friendly environment during the study period at Chiang Mai University. The author is greatly indebted to her teachers; Dr. Khin Oo, Dr. Mar Mar Kyu, Dr. Myo Kywe and Dr. Theingi Myint from Yezin Agricultural University, Myanmar for their guidance and supporting in this study. The author would like to thank to all village leaders and respondents who willingly answered her surveyed questionnaires. The author also goes her gratitude to the friends; especially Ko Kyaw Thet, Ko Kaung Myat, Ko Aung Myo Wai, Ma Phyu Thwe Hnin, Aung Myo Thant, Kyi Pyar Zin and Hnin Ei Win who helped her during the data collection. The author delighted profoundly to show appreciations for their warm and cordial friendship provided, they are all AGS students- seniors, mates, and juniors: Mrs. Thida, Mrs. Samanmali, Ms. ROUNG, Ms. Aung, Ms. Khaing, Mr. Khamko, Mr. Hai, Mrs. Kamani, Mr. Phout and Mr. Oo. Many thanks also go on to all oversea Myanmar students who study in other faculties who help her in Chiang Mai.

There is no match to the affection and encouragement given by her parents, U Myint Shwe and Daw Khin San Myint, and their constant support and unconditional love is greatly acknowledged. The author admires to her sisters and brothers; Ko Soe Moe, Ma Zin Zin Swe, Ma Ei Ei Po, Mg Zar Ni Myo and Ma Wai Wai Aung for their patience and understanding and dedicate this work.

Finally, the author wishes to record and thank everyone whose names could not be mentioned individually.
