ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This dissertation could not have been finished without the support of the faculty's staff, friends and family. I would like to express my gratitude and respect to my supervisor and co-supervisor.

I would like to thank my supervisor, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Songsak Sriboonchitta, Professor and former Dean of the Chiang Mai School of Economics, who generous advices, encourage, and supports me to study in the PhD. program at Chiang Mai University and kindness recommendation of my dissertation.

I am sincere thanks to Prof. Dr. Michael McAleer, Professor of Quantitative Finance at Erasmus University; Research Fellow at the Tinbergen Institute, the Netherlands; Distinguished Chair Professor at National Chung Hsing University, Taiwan; and Visiting Professor at the University of Tokyo, for his continuous and kind supervision and guidance. He also supports me in both practical and theoretical background since I have applied to the PhD. program.

I also would like to thanks Assoc. Prof. Dr. Chia-Lin Chang of National Chung Hsing Univesity, Taiwan, Asst. Prof. Dr. Pairat Kanjanakaroon, and Dr. Prapatchon Jariyapan of Chinag Mai University, Thailand to their valuable comments and suggestions. Moreover, I would like to thank Assoc. Prof. Dr. Felix Chan and Asst. Prof. Dr. Abdul Hakim for providing the computer programs.

I am sincerely grateful to Banpu Public Company Limited for their financial support in tuition fee during I study at Chiang Mai Univesity.

I am sincerely indebted to my father, Viroj Nimanussornkul, my mother, Orawan Sae-Tae, and my family, Kunsuda and Eakkasit Nimanussornkul, who always taking care of me and supporting me everything.

All of the above individuals have contributed to whatever vision, creativity and academic value the present dissertation may have. Any errors and short-comings remain of course mine alone.

Chaiwat Nimanussornkul
