ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many individuals have contributed their efforts towards the completion of this thesis and a million thank you's cannot convey the author's gratitude.

However, the author would like to express sincere gratitude and appreciation to her thesis advisors, Associate Professor Dr. Peninnah Oberdorfer and Associate Professor Wilawan Senaratana for their constant guidance and encouragement shown throughout her studies, a special thanks to Associate Professor Dr. Chomnard Potjanamart for her valuable recommendations and feedback during the thesis defense. Special gratitude goes to the Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University, Dean Thanaruk Suwanprapisa, Professor Dr. Wipada Kunaviktikul, and the author's colleagues at the International Relations Section for their unrelenting support and assistance during the course of her studies; their help has been paramount in the author's success.

The author would like to give sincere acknowledgement to the children and caregivers who participated in this study and thank them for their willingness to share their experiences.

Last, but not least, the author would like to express her deepest gratitude to her husband and mother for giving her the love, support and encouragement needed to complete her studies, for this she is most grateful.
